

TRACKING COMPUTER INFECTIONS

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A technique is disclosed for tracking a virus. The technique comprises copying 5 information from a first packet; passing through a second packet; saving the copied information; determining whether an infection has been received, wherein the infection is associated with a network transmission, and wherein the network transmission is also associated with the first packet; and retrieving the saved information.

10